

MOVING FORWARD TOGETHER | RESURGENCE AND ANTI-RACISM
MAY 17, 2022

MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIR

Dear Faculty, Staff and Trainees,

I must confess I was very disappointed to cancel the Beginning of Summer picnic. But how could we go forward? COVID has been tearing through 3535 and Penn Medicine. On a personal note, my family too has been going through it. Today, the Chief Medical Officer for HUP, Neil Fishman, who specializes in Infectious Disease told us that the most recent variant is 25% more contagious than the previous one, which was 30% more contagious than the one going around in January. That is all I need to know to understand that we absolutely need to mask indoors and also to strongly consider masking outdoors. While hospitalizations are not increasing, if you have spoken to anyone who has had COVID recently, you will learn that the illness is still no joke, nor are we free of risk of long COVID. As time passes, it becomes clearer to me that this is our new normal. I do hope I am wrong. Nonetheless, we are looking at dates in September for a picnic for the Department and will let you know about that soon.

In other news, the review of the Department by PSOM is ongoing. My understanding from Dean Bellini is that it is going well and that we will learn about several opportunities for improvement. For those of you who have participated, I thank you for helping Penn Psychiatry get better. When the report is back, I will be sure to share highlights with you all.

Last, but not least, please take good care of yourself. The work that Penn Psychiatry does is extremely important, and I strongly value all your work and contributions. You may also know that if there is a silver lining to the mental health crisis we are enduring, it is this: for most people, it is now incontrovertible that mental health is extremely important and deserving of care and attention. Whether you are taking care of patients, working on identifying the underlying mechanisms or the next treatments for psychiatric illnesses, training the next generation, or working in operations or finances to make it all happen, your work is absolutely essential. So, please, work on your resilience through maintaining your eating, sleeping and exercising habits, practicing gratitude and engaging in altruism, to help you stay strong. With the long weekend coming up, please make some time to relax and have fun. Reminder: please plan a vacation.

Warmly, m

CONGRATULATIONS MEND TEAM

Our Pennsylvania Hospital MEND (Mental Health Engagement Navigation and Delivery) team was recognized with the Partnership Award at the Pennsylvania Hospital Relationship Based Care awards ceremony on May 11, 2022. NATIONAL HEALTH OBSERVANCES

Each month, we feature select National Health Observances (NHOs) that highlight important health issues affecting people in the United States every day. The NHOs in our May roundup help raise awareness about Healthy Vision, Physical Fitness & Sports, Stroke Awareness and Women's Health Week

- National Physical Fitness & Sports Month

Each May the President's Council on Sports, Fitness & Nutrition (PCSFN) within ODPHP supports National Physical Fitness & Sports Month — an opportunity to raise awareness about the benefits of physical activity! Encourage people to live healthier lives through increased physical activity using our Move Your Way® campaign materials.

- National Stroke Awareness Month

The National Institute of Neurological Disorders and Stroke (NINDS) sponsors National Stroke Awareness Month in May to help people learn about risk factors for stroke. And be sure to share our MyHealthfinder resource on how to lower the risk of stroke.

- Healthy Vision Month

Each May, the National Eye Institute (NEI) sponsors Healthy Vision Month. Use NEI's Healthy Vision Month Social Media Library to spread the word about healthy vision and encourage your audiences to learn how to protect their eye health. You can also share our MyHealthfinder resource on protecting kids' vision with parents in your community.

- National Women's Health Week

This year the Office on Women's Health (OWH) is sponsoring National Women's Health Week on May 8 to 14 to encourage women and girls to make their health a priority. You can also use our Move Your Way maternal health resources to help your pregnant and postpartum audiences find tips for getting active.
